Highlights of the Year

Gardeners in Maine, spend a lot of time talking about the weather. Last year's annual report began with the statement that "2009 may be best remembered for its horrible weather." In contrast, 2010 will be remembered for its almost perfect weather throughout all four seasons. The mild winter with moderate snowfall was followed by an extremely early spring, a long and hot summer, and a mild and colorful autumn. As a result, the gardens and the gardeners flourished, and people visited and enjoyed the gardens in record numbers.

New programs and events offered by the Preserve in 2010 involved collaboration with several organizations. Thuya staff taught a four-week course through Acadia Senior College on the history and current operations of Thuya Garden. In collaboration with the Northeast Harbor Library, the Preserve sponsored a month long exhibit of botanical drawings and prints and a lecture by Gordon Hayward, renowned author of many books on gardening. A grant from the Garden Club of Mount Desert allowed Thuya Garden to begin a two year project that will restore plantings at the Joseph Curtis Memorial on the Asticou Terraces Trail, and the outcome of a second grant from the Garden Club can be seen in new plantings near the corner of routes 3 and 198 in the Azalea Garden. Lastly, a generous grant from the Hattie A. & Fred C. Lynam Trust allowed the Preserve to explore and plan for the future addition of an environmentally friendly public restroom in each garden.

The Land and Trails Committee of the Preserve, a relatively new committee responsible for stewardship of preserve-owned lands beyond the gardens proper, worked with Maine Coast Heritage Trust and a neighboring landowner to develop a conservation easement that will protect in perpetuity pedestrian public access to the Asticou Trail, as well as the natural, undeveloped character of lands bordering this trail. In addition, the Map House, a historic and cultural landmark on the neighbor's property that marks the beginning of the connector trail between Northeast Harbor and Jordan Pond, will continue to be maintained and preserved by the Garden Preserve. An intern from College of the Atlantic assisted this effort by developing GIS maps of the area.

While the above projects describe a few of the new things that took place in 2010, the Preserve's mission to preserve the Asticou Azalea Garden and the Thuya Garden, Lodge, dock and trails remains the primary focus of all activity. The properties are open to the public dawn to dusk nine months of the year, and this is only possible due to the hard work of a very dedicated and talented staff and the very generous support received from the island community and visitors to the gardens.
